From the Polding Learning Community Learning Pit:

In Mathematics this week, we are revising previous content including the elapsing of time. The special interest persuasive topic has been an engaging activity for students and we can't wait to see the published texts. Students are showing all the skills they have been learning in this specific writing technique and are enjoying the freedom to express it in a variety of ways. Further, students are beginning to explore some of Australia's classic poems as well as creating their own portfolio. The season of Advent is always an exciting time and reminds us of the need to put Christ into Xmas. Take care. Chris Burton, Tarri Johns & Jo Pickett.
